It's sad with all the other things going on like the WTC, recession, and war, that people are so petty that they think they paid too much for a free browser. I think this anti-trust business has gone on too long and costing the tax payers too much money. I believe that this bogus lawsuit angst Microsoft is a bunch of money-hungry, sleazy lawyers and showboating bureaucrats trying to justify their existence.

Tired Of Hearing About small Petty Problems.
